Jim Golden's Public Speaking and Presentation Skills course was a big hit with Pennsylvania Department of Education class attendees. Participants were enthusiastic about the well-organized, practical approach to the topic and Jim's engaging style. We plan to ask him to return as soon as possible to conduct the course again, as the demand will certainly increase once word gets out.

Here are some of the comments we received:

Yesterday I participated in, not "attended", a great training class! The presenter, Jim Golden, did an excellent job of facilitating the class.

I chose the class for the opportunity to strengthen my public speaking skills. The class exceeded my expectations. The time went very fast!

This training was time well spent! I would recommend this class to anyone.

Overall, the course was interesting, informative and fun to participate in.
